REGIONAL CHALLENGES TO CTE

Funding:

- “ Sending Schools - CTE costs exceeding budgets
- “ Transportation costs
- “ Equipment and Tools
- “ Instructional Human Resources
- “ Infrastructure

Directorship: Lack of Definition of Roles and Responsibilities

- “ Directors are often responsible for administrative duties & discipline, as well as Directorship. (Tim Day explained that the majority of his time is spent performing the roles of a Principal verses a CTE Director.

What does the region need?

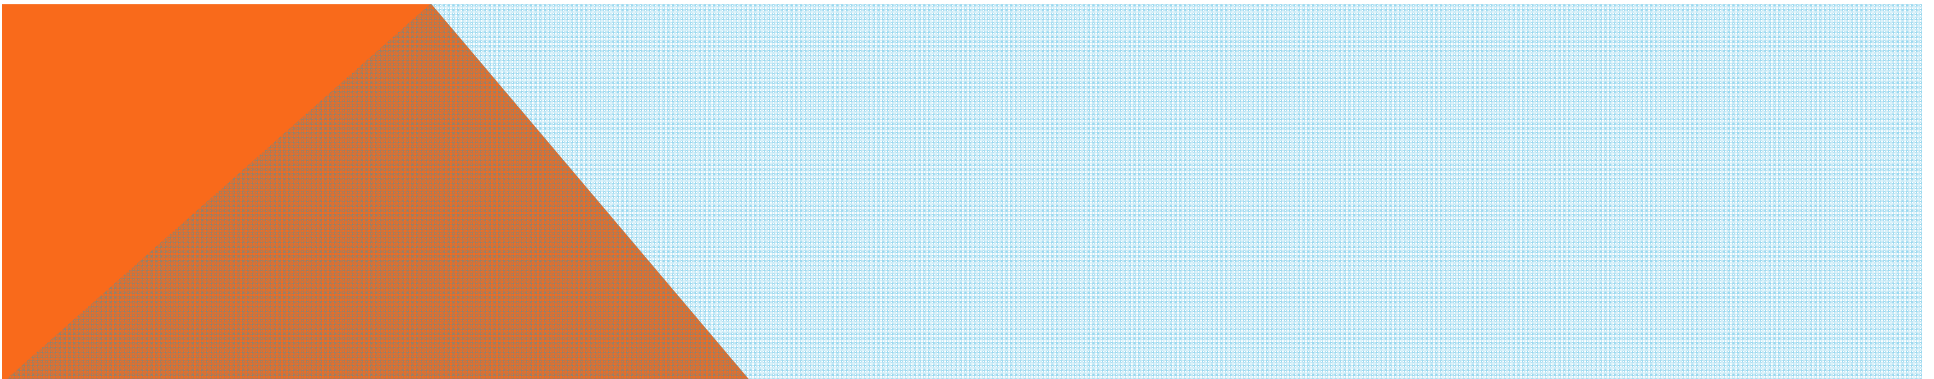

- “ Missing connection to workforce development in order to identify and develop programs and curriculum that Business and Industry requires.

Lacking resources:

- “ Equipment, tools, infrastructure

Protectionism:

- “ Teachers fearful of relinquishing or “re-aligning” CTE programs that are not high demand occupations.

OVERARCHING CHALLENGE

Due to budget cuts, the CTE Director Roles and Responsibilities have evolved over time to focus more on administrative functions and less on creating student pathways to jobs.

“What is the best way to diplomatically communicate the lack of CTE Director Roles and Responsibilities and to refocus the position back to placing students on a pathway to high demand occupations?”
